

W. C. PETTY IS SEEN AS VICTOR IN SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT RACE

Clean Campaign and Fitness for Office, Factors in Race

Principal W. C. Petty of Antioch will win the Republican nomination for county superintendent of schools by a very surprising majority, according to the opinion of those who have made an exhaustive study of the situation. Supporters of the Antioch man who are authority for the announcement today cited that the candidate has developed a voting strength from unexpected quarters, which indicates a very decisive victory at the polls next Tuesday.

One of the largest and most enthusiastic Republican gatherings of the campaign endorsed the candidacy of Mr. Petty at the Waukegan armory Monday, this being only one of the many such meetings held in the county in behalf of the candidate, indicating that the Antioch man will roll up a very large vote next Tuesday.

"Mr. Petty has worked hard," one of Lake county's most influential politicians said today, "and his campaign has been clean, honorable and dignified. The result is that thousands of voters who have heretofore been disinterested in candidates for this office have rallied to his support. It will be no surprise to me if Mr. Petty polls one of the largest votes of the primary election next Tuesday."

Rural Districts Want Change

Eight years ago, when Miss Alice Smith made the race for the Republican nomination against the incumbent, T. A. Simpson, it was shown conclusively that rural districts of the county desired a change in county superintendents. Petty adherents announced after having delved into election records of eight years ago. Miss Smith, they declared, citing election figures, lost by only 291 votes in the county, winning in every rural district, and her opponent winning out by the small majority by reason of having received a larger vote in the lake shore cities where schools are little affected by the county superintendent's office. Miss Smith lost by small majorities in the townships of Benton, Waukegan, Deerfield, West, Deerfield, and Shields, but almost made up the difference in rural districts, where she won by heavy majorities, sometimes the vote being nearly 20 to 1 for her candidacy.

Miss Smith could scarcely be credited with making a thorough campaign in 1922, but she nearly won the nomination merely by announcing that she was a candidate, say those who cited the record of eight years ago.

Petty, Exceptional Candidate

Mr. Petty's candidacy is exceptional, unique, in one respect at least; in that the candidate has the highest scholastic qualifications of any candidate that ever presented himself for the office in Lake county. He is an expert in elementary education and is the peer of any county superintendent in Illinois. Add to his qualifications the fact that he has no political obligations to interfere with the administration of the office, and that he favors equal educational opportunities for all Lake county children and it is easy to understand why the Antioch school principal is looked upon as the favored Republican candidate for county superintendent of schools.

Side Altars for New Catholic Church Will Be Made in Italy

Announcement was made here yesterday that William J. Rooney and Jerry Horan, of Chicago, have donated the two side marble altars costing $5000 for St. Peter's new church, in memory of the deceased members of their respective families.

These two beautiful structures will be made in Italy through the Rambsch Art Studios, of New York City, exclusive importers of church furnishings. They have promised to have them built and installed in the church by August 1.

O. W. Kottelhut left Tuesday for Memphis, Tenn., to get his wife who spent the winter there with her parents. Upon their return they will locate at Elkhorn, where Mr. Kottelhut has purchased a meat market. Guy Sullivan and family, from Chicago, have moved to Antioch. They are living on Orchard street.

MAKES CLEAN CAMPAIGN

PRIN. W. C. PETTY.

Credit for conducting one of the cleanest campaigns for office ever seen in Lake county goes to Prin. W. C. Petty, candidate for county superintendent of schools. Dignified and honorable methods employed by the Antioch school principal have won for him the respect and admiration of Lake county voters.

In this respect his campaign has been very outstanding, and his example is one that may well be followed by others who seek elective office.

Will Assemble Government Data in Antioch Village And Township

START WORK APRIL 2

Social and economic data desired by the government for the 15th census is being assembled in Antioch village and township by Mrs. Gladys Ames and Oliver Hughes.

Birthplace Important Factor

Among the most important questions to be asked of everybody are those relating to the place of birth of his father and mother. Each person must be credited in the census records to the state, territory, or foreign country, in which his birthplace was called or what nation owned that territory at the time the person was born. If the person or his parents were born in Europe, the census taker may have to get out his atlas to find out what nation now owns the territory.

If, for example, a person was born 20 years ago in the province of

SMITH WILL GET LARGE VOTE IN LAKE COUNTY

It is conceded that Col. A. V. Smith, able prosecutor of Lake county for the last 12 years, will roll up a large vote in Lake county over Congressman Carl R. Chidbolen, candidate for re-election. Chidbolen has held the post for several years without interruption.

Col. Smith, a veteran of the United States military invasion of Mexico as well as the world war, directed the jury-tampering case against former Governor Len Small and twice prosecuted Overlord Voliva of Zion. Smith's strong support among the ex-service men

MCDONOUGH, LYONS AND CARROL HAVE BEST CHANCE TO WIN

Nine Republicans and One Democrat Seek Legislative Seats

That the wheels of political fortune are awaiting for Lee McDonough, Waukegan, Richard J. Lyons, Mundelein, and William M. Carroll, Woodstock, is the belief of prognosticators who have analyzed the legislative derby in the eighth senatorial district—Lake, McHenry and Boone counties.

With a field of nine Republicans from which to choose, it is believed that Lake county voters will settle on Lyons and McDonough as their only hope of retaining two members of the house, while McHenry county will concentrate on Carroll in an effort to regain the seat it lost two years ago.

Lyons and McDonough are two of the three outgoing members, and the third whose term expires is N. L. Jackson of Belvidere. Jackson, heretofore has had Boone county almost solidly and has rounded up sufficient additional support in McHenry and Lake counties to win, but this year he has opposition in his own county in the person of John Fair, former Boone county sheriff. It is believed that Jackson, coming from the smallest unit of the district, will have small chance of winning.

Carroll Making Strong Campaign

While Carroll has opposition in McHenry county, it is believed the Woodstock attorney will muster a winning vote in his home county. With a nine-way split in the district vote Carroll will have a distinct advantage in the race.

Excellent Records Are Assets

Representative Lee McDonough, elected to the general assembly two years ago, made an excellent record as a first term legislator, having sponsored four constructive measures which were enacted into law. These included a law creating the Lake County Free Employment Bureau, a school act which provides for the creation of new high schools

300 LOCAL PEOPLE SEE ART EXHIBIT AT HIGH SCHOOL

Many Reproductions Of the Masters Are in Collection

Appreciative of the unusual opportunity offered them, about 300 local people gathered at the high school last Monday night to view the hundreds of pictorial reproductions which were on exhibition there.

Among the collection were 600 reproductions of the masters from the Potter-Metter company, of Chicago, and about 25 of the very best hand-colored copies of the "old masters" available from the Colonial Art company, of Oklahoma City. In addition to these there was about a fourth of Mr. Neal's collection on exhibition, as well as many beautiful framed, hand-colored pictures from the high school group and Mr. Peterson's collection.

After an hour and a half of entertainment each one was given a chance to inspect the pictures.

4-H Officials Pleased With Local Interest

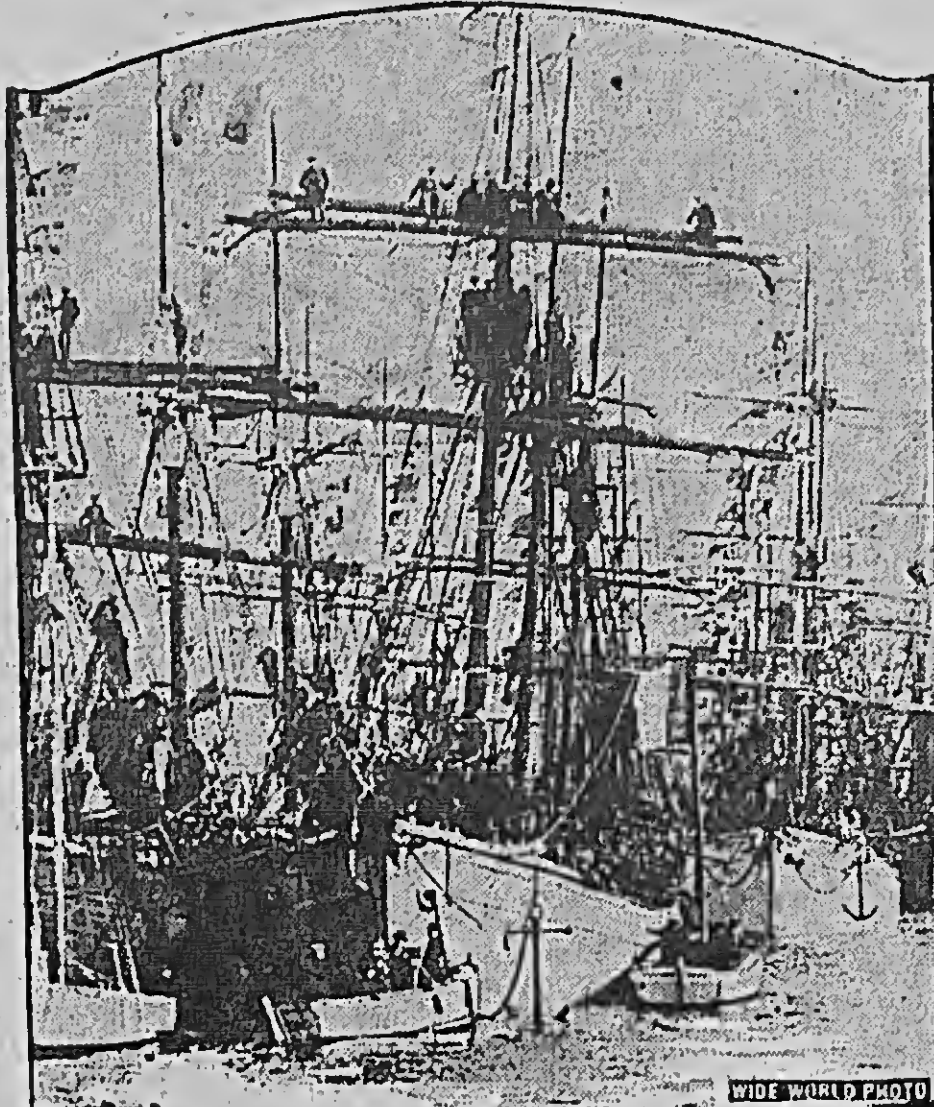

Predicting that there will be an enrollment of over a hundred members in the local branch of the 4-H club in a short time, officials of that manner in which the work is organization are ultra pleased with progressing here.

Manifesting interest in the club, a large number turned out at the meeting that was held in Antioch Saturday night.

Improvements Are Being Made at Antioch Cafe

The interior of the Antioch Cafe is being entirely transformed. A new scheme of interior decorations will soon be completed. When finished, Manager Ted Paulos will have one of the finest cafes in Lake county.

RICHARDS AND SIMONS RETURNED TO OFFICE TUESDAY

Road and Boxing Measures Carry — Light Vote at Annual Election

An unusually quiet election here Tuesday resulted in the re-election of Charles F. Richards as town clerk and the return of Ernest L. Simons to the office of assessor, also affirmative votes on the road and boxing propositions.

Antioch voters in the three precincts marked 236 times for the two candidates who were without opposition, Richards receiving 200 votes and Simons 221.

The special gravel tax ballot which carried the proposition of levying a tax of 18 cents on each one hundred dollars valuation in the township for the improvement of the Pikeville and Queen of the West roads, carried 165 to 61 against.

The proposition to authorize boxing, sparring and wrestling matches in the township carried about 6 to 1, 193 voting for the measure and 34 against it.

TIFFANY HAS EDGE IN FIVE-MAN RACE FOR COUNTY SHERIFF

Lake Forest Chief of Police Looms as Winner in Primary

VOLIVA BACKS GREEN

Lester T. Tiffany, Lake Forest chief of police and former deputy sheriff, appears to have a slight edge over his four opponents for the sheriff nomination as the contestants near the finish line in one of the hottest Republican primary battles ever staged in Lake county, it was indicated this week by political seers and published press reports.

Announcement that Wilbur Glona Voliva, Zion chief, would throw the united support of his followers to Elmer Green, is believed to have reduced Tiffany's early campaign lead; nevertheless, Voliva's announcement of his choice has drawn fire from the Tiffany headquarters in the form of an open letter from Ernest Mayer, Highland Park, to Voliva, in which he charges that the Zion leader has neglected to make an investigation of the records of the candidates for sheriff. Mayer claims to have made such investigations and offers to furnish same under oath in proof of his statement that Lester Tiffany is the only candidate for the office whose past record is immune from criticism.

Mr. Mayer backs his assertion with an offer to donate one thousand dollars to any charity Voliva may name if he can disprove the statement.

Green in Comeback Attempt

Elmer Green, former sheriff, who was appointed by Governor Small as head of the state penitentiary at Joliet, is attempting a political comeback. With Green are the so-called old guard who feel jubilant over the fact that their candidate is basking in the favor of Zion.

Edward Ahlstrom, also a former sheriff, is making a strong campaign throughout the county and is pinning his hopes to recapturing the voting strength that put him across in 1922.

H. A. (Hub) Doolittle, father of the present sheriff who is acting as campaign manager for the senior Doolittle is waging an aggressive fight for the nomination. During his re-

Chicago Is Battleground For Deneen-McCormick Senatorial Struggle

With the so-called world court continuing in the limelight as an important campaign issue, Senator Charles S. Deneen and Congressman Ruth Hanna McCormick are rattling each other and the Illinois voters during the final week of the campaign with Chicago as the battleground for the grand prize of the republican senatorial nomination. Charges and counter-charges have rent the air and both candidates have resorted to personal attacks as election day nears. Deneen, former Governor and a shrewd politician, has a worthy foe in Mrs. McCormick and the contest is being watched with interest.

WHIMSICAL MARCH IS GONE; APRIL MAKES ITS DEBUT

March, the frowzy old dame with crotchets and whimsicalities has faded away. The last oyster and R month of the year is gone and sunny April is here.

The way March treated Antioch was a shame—it sure swished its skirts around the city. It has been done before though. The wonder is that each year a few warm days, a few days of glorious sunshine which has California benten so far that Illinois expatriates in the Golden State, get nostalgia when they think about it, give us the idea that winter is over, and that's all there is to it.

"Not so fast," rehearses March and goes out wagging its tail. But there are violets under the snow; the crocus is ready to bloom; and the tulips are gathering color for the riot of chromatic display. "It won't be long now" before there will be all kinds of hepatics and spring beauties, and hugging the shelter of the old mossy trees will be the white anemone.

4 LAKE COUNTY PAPERS MERGED BY FRANK JUST

Consolidation of Waukegan daily newspapers and two weekly papers at Libertyville was effected Saturday when Frank H. Just, owner of the Waukegan Daily News and the Lake County Register at Libertyville, purchased the Waukegan Daily Sun and the Libertyville Independent. The consolidation of the four publications became effective Monday and the Waukegan daily was issued under the name of the News-Sun.

The Daily News was organized in 1921 by Mr. Just and the Daily Sun was first published in 1897 under the leadership of former Representative A. K. Stearns. The county newspaper combines the Libertyville Independent, founded in 1892, with the Lake County Register, founded and published by Mr. Just from 1916 to the present time.

Mr. Just owned and published the Daily Sun from 1908 to 1912, selling to W. J. and F. G. Smith, who two years ago sold both the Sun and Independent to John A. Dickson, M. B. Wieland and D. M. Noyes of Chicago, the company being known as Lake County Newspapers Incorporated.

WHAT MAKES A GOOD LIVE TOWN

There are two important things that go toward making a good live town—one is persistent thorough and attractive advertising and the other is backing up the advertising with performance. There is no use advertising without performance. There is no use advertising if you haven't the goods and there is no use having the goods if you do not advertise them. No town was ever more enterprising and public-spirited persons to bring trade to him, and neither is it by the man who fails to deliver the goods when called upon. The first is a leech and the second an oyster, and both help make a cow pasture out of a town.

When the business houses of a community know how to advertise and how to follow up the advertising by giving good service, the community is sure to grow and that helps all the people, for a part of every dollar and that helps all the people, for a part of every dollar goes to taxes, churches, and charities, to public improvements—and, in fact, the portion of the dollar that remains in the town stays right there, and is passed around until some local citizen takes it away and spends it elsewhere.

PROGRESS

"Progress" is more than a mere condition or word. It has tangible aspects. You can place it upon the eternal scales of life and weigh it. And everyone knows what happens to the town that lacks progress—that town has a run-down-at-the-heel look. People who visit it or pass through it in automobiles—prospective residents—capitalists with money to invest—shrink their shoulders and remark, "It's a dead town."

Don't let your town be a "dead town."

CENSUS TAKING

On April 2, an army of one hundred thousand men and women went into action at the call of their government.

In scope, organization, equipment and responsibility, this is the greatest undertaking of its kind ever launched in this or any other country.

This important enterprise is being conducted by the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce. In one month the enumerators must complete their part of the work and accumulate a vast amount of data regarding social and economic conditions throughout our far-flung area. In one month these men and women must gather this information from every city and hamlet, six million farms, 14,000 mines and quarries, 100,000 irrigation and drainage projects, and from nearly 200,000 factories, more than two million stores, and nearly thirty million households.

The decennial census is mandatory under the constitution. The first was taken in 1790. But the originators of that mandate probably never dreamed either of the rapid increase in our national population, or of the complex development of our national life.

Today the welfare of our people rests upon business—upon our farms, our factories and counting houses, and our homes. Statistics may be dull in certain aspects, but statistics must be reliably gathered and intelligently compiled if the progress of the nation is to be wisely charted.

The census taking should not be considered either coercive or a meddling interference in private affairs. It is performing a function necessary and beneficial to us all collectively and individually. No one need hesitate to answer frankly and fully the questions asked by the enumerators. They have no personal interest in your affairs. They are merely units in an organization engaged in a mighty task. Utmost secrecy surrounds every census contact.

Under the law, the information furnished shall be used only for the statistical purposes for which it is supplied. No publication shall be made by the census office whereby the data furnished by any particular establishment or individual can be identified, nor shall the director of the census permit anyone other than the sworn employees of the census office to examine the individual reports.

This is a public service, important and far-reaching. It cannot be successful unless the people themselves realize their responsibility and join the Department of Commerce with confidence and full co-operation in this great government undertaking.

Distribution is a new subject, included for the first time in the present census. It may be described briefly as a census of trade, undertaken to obtain statistics of goods sold by merchants and dealers, wholesale and retail, and of the number of persons employed in the trade.

THE HIGH-GATTED SCIENTIST

There is not a day goes by but that we who are living here in Antioch are in some way benighted by what scientists throughout this country and other countries have done; but nevertheless, regardless of the service it has rendered to mankind, science probably has a larger proportion of "single-track" minds than any other profession. Scientists may be geniuses in their respective lines, but they are generally oblivious to anything outside. In that respect they are narrow.

A scientist, as a rule, cannot act or think further than the walls of his own domain, and after all, this is a very small field when compared with the rest of the world's activities. Such limited vision works for selfishness and egotism.

Science has yet to learn the value of co-operation not within its own family, but co-operation with other pursuits. To profit from this co-operation, it must strive for popular understanding and confidence. It has not done this. That is why its endeavors often seem either mysterious or foolish. Science makes a great mistake in continuing to ignore the layman.

To the scientific clique the man who has not had a college education or its equivalent is a nobody. This is because persons of a meager education are not considered bright enough to understand scientific pursuits. From experience the scientist has found that he cannot undertake to educate the masses up to the high point from which they can begin to fathom his activities. So the scientist sticks to his technical explanation for the benefit of the few who are sufficiently learned to digest intricate details. The layman is left to flounder about as best he can. Nine times out of ten he arrives at erroneous conclusions.

Old Eagle Eye Says--

It just seems as though the slightest things which happen are misunderstood. Even a mother, trying to do what she believes to be best for her children, is held up for discussion occasionally and more often than not subjected to ridicule and abuse.

Most everyone admits that this is a queer world, but the fact that a mother holds her own children above others, forgetting petty things, is not at all strange.

But what is strange is the fact that mothers who are doing all in their power for their own children will sometimes criticize another who is doing as much for hers.

Victoria street was the scene of a bicycle tourney Monday night. Just as the contestants were getting "all set", Blackman's large dog emerged from his retreat; snuffed at the boys and girls; yawned; and then with a grunt of further understanding subsided on the street with his head between his paws, but with his eyes still on the youngsters. Everytime a new contestant entered the game, he acknowledged the peaceful intrusion by wagging his tail.

The census enumerators have started out and you are supposed to answer the questions they ask. They have a legal right to ask some quite personal ones, but don't get excited—answer them and save trouble with Uncle Sam later. Don't be misled if the enumerator doesn't argue with you. His instructions in that case are to report you to headquarters.

Mauve Molehills

Still, our proportion of criminals would be no greater than England's if we used her definitions of crime.

"Husbands hunger for petting when they are sick," says a feminine writer. But why drag in the last four words?

Dice throwing is the oldest of all games, and that may explain why seven has always been called a lucky number.

If liquor doesn't make you feel as good as it once did don't blame the liquor. Holding a girl's hand doesn't either.

Blessed are the peacemakers. And with that start you can guess what becomes of orators.

FIFTEEN YEARS OF ILLS ENDED BY NEW KONJOLA

Many Stubborn Ailments Vanished When Modern Medicine Was Put To The Test

MRS. C. SPRINGWEILLER

"It is difficult to find words with which to praise the medicine that relieved me after I suffered for fifteen years from terrible headaches, swollen glands in the neck, indigestion, constipation and kidney trouble," said Mrs. C. Springweiller, 4737 North Normandie Avenue, Chicago. "It seemed that my case was beyond relief, as I could find nothing to do any good. I had smothering spells, pains around the heart, and bloating after every meal. I felt miserable both day and night."

"But to my astonishment and joy, the very first bottle of Konjola brought such wonderful results that I could hardly wait to take more. Four bottles, in just one month ended my fifteen years of suffering. My digestion is fine; kidneys are normal; the constipation was quickly relieved. I am gaining in weight and vitality, and am the happiest woman in Chicago."

It is logical to believe that what Konjola has done for others it will do for you—for everyone. This is especially so if Konjola is given a fair test, and six to eight bottles are considered a fair trial.

Konjola is sold in Antioch, Illinois, at S. H. Reeves' drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

Edward A. Brown For Sheriff

To The Voters Of Lake County, Illinois

In this, the closing week of my campaign for Sheriff of Lake County, I can assure my friends that reports from my supporters throughout the county indicate that I will win next Tuesday by a substantial plurality. I am one of the few candidates for any County office who does not live on the Lake Shore. All of Lake County deserves and is entitled to representation in the Court House. As a matter of fact, the wonderful roads that we possess unite into very close contact today have brought the co-hoond Lake today is closer to Waukegan than North Chicago was ten years ago.

For eleven years I have served on the Board of Supervisors of Lake County, serving the large township plendid villages of Grayslake, Avon, which contains the s and Round Lake. During that time I have come into very close contact with every County office and know exactly the duties of the office of Sheriff, an office which serves and aids every other county position. This experience has qualified me in a marked degree to estimate the task which I am undertaking.

During this campaign I have said no unkind word about any of my opponents, all of whom are my friends and very fine gentlemen. However, I am confident that the results of the Primary of April 8th will show me the winner. I now promise solemnly that if elected, I will discharge the duties of the office in an efficient, honest and reputable manner. After the primaries of April 8th I will expect the solid support of the entire Republican party in the election next Fall. I take this opportunity of thanking my friends and acquaintances throughout Lake County, who have stood by me and encouraged me in this campaign.

Respectfully submitted,

Edward A. Brown

Two New Ways To Fix Canned Tomatoes

Time was when people had to subsist during early spring months on a diet of poor quality. But that was a generation or two ago. Nowadays vegetables of excellent quality, picked at their moment of prime ripeness, are available in cans to anyone at any time of the year.

Take tomatoes, for instance. It is scarcely conceivable to us now that there was a time not so long ago when these succulent vegetables were not to be had for love or money in the Northern States during the early spring months. Our principal difficulty now is to decide in which of many delicious ways we will cook and serve them.

New Tomato Recipe

Here are two new recipes on which you can't go wrong—one for combining tomatoes with other vegetables, and one for using them in a salad dressing.

Pea and Rice Goulash

Dice two slices bacon and fry crisp. Remove bacon from fire. Chop one onion and add to the bacon fat, cooking gently until pale yellow. Add the contents of one 10-ounce can of strained tomatoes, one cup boiling water and the liquor from one 11-ounce can of peas, and bring to boiling. Add one-fourth cup brown rice and cook till the rice is tender, about 35 minutes. Add the peas, heat well, add cooked bacon and serve. This serves four.

Thousand Island Dressing

Mix together one cup mayonnaise, three tablespoons canned tomato paste, one tablespoon chopped green pepper and ten chopped stuffed olives. Serve on hearts of lettuce.

Sally Ann's Adventures

Sally Ann got fooled on April Fool's day! Did you? Her daddy told her that if she would be a nice little girl and help her mamma that he would bring her home a whole great big bag of candy when he came from the bank.

So Sally Ann was the best girl you ever saw. All day long she helped her mamma—wiped dishes, swept the floor with her little broom, picked up her blocks and put them in their box, fed the doggy, and put the knives and forks and spoons on the table.

Then in the afternoon she put all of her babies to bed, and that was such a big job, because just as soon as she got Mabel to sleep, Peggy would start crying and then when she had comforted her, Cracker would wake up and cry, "Mamma, Mamma!" Sally Ann got so nervous that she almost cried, but then she suddenly remembered that if she cried her papa would not bring her any candy.

All afternoon she jumped and jumped with glee every time she thought of the treat daddy was going to bring her. She could hardly wait until the time came. Almost every five minutes she would run to her mamma, who was sewing, and ask her what time it was, because she knew that she couldn't look for her daddy until five o'clock.

Finally her mamma called out to her, "Sally Ann, it is time to go and meet your daddy; it is almost five." So Sally got on her coat and hat, grabbed one of her dollies, and ran down the street. She was so excited

Have You Tried These Cranberry Recipes?

Why cram all your cranberries into the Christmas season? These delicious tart berries are available in cans at any time of the year. Here are a few recipes for their use which will start you on the right track.

Cranberry Cordial

Make a syrup of one cup sugar and two cups water. Add two cups tea, one cup lemon juice, the contents of a No. 2 can cranberry jelly and a No. 2 can unsweetened pineapple juice, and six cups cider. Serve very cold. This makes four quarts.

Cranberry Cocktail

Heat to boiling three-fourths cup pineapple syrup, three-fourths cup canned cranberry sauce, one tablespoon sugar and one tablespoon lemon juice, and simmer until cranberry sauce is entirely melted. Chill that she could hardly wait until she got to the corner where she was to wait for her daddy.

She had stood there but a few minutes when she saw him coming with a great big bag in his hand. Little Sally Ann's heart went pitter-patter as he came nearer and nearer. She ran up to him and kissed him and asked him if she couldn't have some of the candy that he had brought for her, but he said no that she would have to wait until she got home.

"Papa brought me a great big bag of candy", shouted Sally Ann as she ran into the kitchen where her mother was getting supper.

Sally Ann's daddy then told her mamma to come into the living room to watch Sally Ann open her sack of candy. So with her mamma and daddy looking on, Sally Ann quickly, but proudly, opened the bag and drew out a stick of candy. It was the nice lemon kind that she liked so well. Then she unwrapped it and put it in her mouth, but when she tried to bite a piece off, she was so disappointed, because she discovered that it was made out of rubber; and when she began to cry, her daddy took her on his lap and said, "April Fool, April Fool."

and pour over one and one-half cups sliced pineapple and one cup sliced banana. This makes eight servings.

Apples Baked with Cranberries

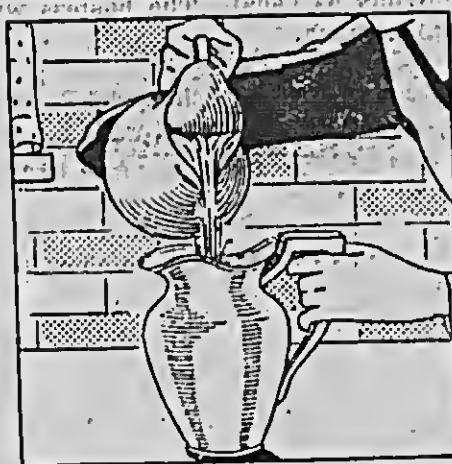

Core eight baking apples, pare half way down, and put small pieces butter in each cavity. Place in pan. Heat one cup canned cranberry sauce in two cups water, pour over and around the apples, and bake in oven till tender, basting often. When almost done, sprinkle one-fourth cup sugar over the apples and set under broiler flame till sugar melts and tops are glazed.

Apricot Cranberry Tarts

Cook together until creamy and rather thick one cup canned cranberry sauce, one cup canned apricot pulp, four teaspoons sugar and one teaspoon flour. Cool and put in pre-baked tart shells. Top with whipped cream. Makes ten to twelve tarts.

Hints For Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

BOILED water will lose its flat taste if it is poured from one pitcher to another three or four times, or if it is shaken up in a large bottle.

An easily prepared mushroom sauce that adds tremendously to the welcome accorded to the beef-steak is made as follows. Mix together in a frying pan one tablespoon butter and one tablespoon flour. Stir in gradually one cup of brown stock. When the mixture reaches the boiling point, add one cup small mushrooms, one tablespoon mushroom ketchup, salt and pepper to taste, and one teaspoon cream.

CHANNEL LAKE COUNTRY CLUB NEWS

— What Members of Popular Organization Are Doing —

The elements which interfered so seriously with functions scheduled to take place last week held no terrors for the members of the Channel Lake Country club, who turned out "en masse" for the delightful dinner-dance held last Saturday night at the Medinah Athletic club. One hundred and five reservations were made, and the tables, which were grouped around the dance floor in what is known as the ladies' dining room, held parties from groups of four to groups of twelve, each table being decorated with red roses.

Among the larger groups was the Gnaedinger party which included Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Gnaedinger, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lytle, Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Nilsson, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Rohm, and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Z. Welle.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Mauermann had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Emery, Mr. and Mrs. Ridgway, Mr. and Mrs. Rathje, and Mr. and Mrs. Crilly.

Another large group included Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sandell with their guests Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Palmer and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Joffe, of Evanston, also Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Murphy, and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Laffin.

With Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Mills were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Howe and Mr. and Mrs. Van Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Heg had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Winslow Heg and Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Hummer, all of Evanston.

Among other representatives from Evanston were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paulson, with four guests, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hitchcock, with two guests.

At the table with Mr. and Mrs. Steinmiller were Mr. and Mrs. M. Thels, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Emmert, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kruger.

Other city guests included Mr. and Mrs. Paul Juhnke, with their daughter, Adele, and escort, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitfield and four guests, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. "Bud" Stevens, with two guests, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Laffin, Frances Laffin and George Bauer, Brooke Phillips and Don Garbrecht, Peg Healy and Henry Hafer, Marlon Gray and Max Mauermann, Martha Louise Dunbar and Warren Howe, and Allen Gifford, with a party of eight.

The prize for the longest distance travelled by those in attendance was awarded to the loyal friends from Antioch who journeyed the sixty-odd miles to enjoy the happy reunion of the members. In this party were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Vos, Mr. and Mrs. Brant, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Anderson, and Lorraine Anderson with escort.

During the course of the evening, the President Paul J. Gnaedinger extended a most cordial greeting to all the members and their guests, and referred especially in a very complimentary manner to the work accomplished by past officers of the club, who had brought the organization up to what it now is. Following a resume of the personnel of the various committees appointed to carry on the work of the club during the current year, Mr. Gnaedinger presented the many trophies and prizes won by the members during last season's tournaments.

Wm. E. Cooper was the winner of the George Mason cup, the president's trophy, and likewise the club championship. It was to be regretted that Mr. Cooper and his family were out of the city, and therefore could not attend to receive these honors.

The Ladies' championship trophy was awarded to Mrs. Paul Volk, who likewise was unable to attend the club dinner, but Mrs. Elolae Kreese Stevens was present to receive the trophy presented to her.

In the junior class, the Paul Volk trophy was won by Billy Reuz and the Wm. H. Gifford trophy was awarded to Edward Mauermann. Both of these juniors were among the absent ones.

In the mixed two-ball foursomes, the Whitfield trophy was awarded to Edward Mauermann, the Frank Bruns trophy to Mrs. Wm. E. Cooper, and the "runner-up" prizes were presented to Mrs. J. H. Sandell and Mrs. Elolae K. Stevens.

Besides the prizes awarded the ladies from Antioch for having come the longest distance, another prize was given to the lady coming the next farthest distance; this was presented to Mrs. A. T. Murphy, of Winnetka.

When the final prize, to the youngest lady in the room, was offered, there was great hesitancy, but it was finally claimed by Mrs. Max Mauermann, who presented it to Marlon Gray, of Oak Park.

The music was "poppy" and inspiring, and the circle dances, which were called off in such a lively manner, added greatly to the enjoyment and friendly spirit which prevailed the entire assemblage.

As a fitting close to a very happy evening, Mrs. R. P. Hummer, one of the guests, was prevailed upon to sing several of the popular songs of the day, and her lovely voice and charming manner won a rousing applause from every one present.

Such parties as this one proved to add greatly to the social life of the club, and the chairman, Henry Paulson, and his committee, which included Ernest Heg, Jr., Frank Whitfield, and Mrs. J. H. Sandell, who arranged the details of the affair, deserve the heartiest thanks and appreciation for their efforts from all who were fortunate enough to attend.

ALL KINDS OF TRAPS SET FOR UNWARY ANTIOCHEANS ON APRIL FOOL'S DAY

April-fooling Has Been In Vogue Since Dawn Of History

All kinds of traps were set for the unwary in Antioch Tuesday. Napkins were sewed to the dinner table, salt was put in the sugar bowl, sugar was put in the salt cellar, daddy's cigarillos were stuffed with the most abominable kinds of "tobacco", etc. Some dared not answer any telephone calls or accept any candy, even from alleged friends. The majority escaped with no serious results, while there were some who got the worst of it all because they were pursued by some folks with more than the ordinary amount of originality.

Is Old Custom

On April Fool it has long been customary to fool friends and acquaintances by playing practical jokes on them and sending them on foolish errands. The victim is called an April Fool and the day is known as All Fool's day or April Fool's day. Numerous theories have been suggested to account for the origin of the custom.

Undoubtedly April-fooling is of considerable antiquity. Similar festivities in the springtime have been popular in different parts of the world since the dawn of history. The Romans played burlesque tricks on February 17, the Feast of Fools, and similar jokes are played on friends by the Hindus during the celebration of the Huli festival, which ends March 31.

But assuming a relationship between April Fool's day and these once almost universal festivals held near the spring equinox, the exact origin of our custom still remains unexplained.

Originated in France

April Fool practices in England did not acquire their present form until about the beginning of the 17th century. It is commonly supposed that the English and Germans borrowed the custom from the French, who call it "un poisson d'avril". April fish, which may allude to the general voraciousness of fish in the spring, to the fact that April fish would be young and therefore easily caught, or to the fact that in that month the sun leaves the zodiacal sign of the Fish.

This has led many to believe that April Fool's day originated with the change of calendar in France in 1564.

When the Gregorian was substituted for the Julian calendar New Year's day was changed from March 25 to January 1. Prior to that time new year festivities lasted eight days, beginning March 25 and reaching their highest point and ending April 1, which was set apart especially for giving presents and making calls. Possibly, it is argued, the celebration on the old date was converted into a burlesque after the new date was adopted.

No importance is attached to the theory that April Fool was originally suggested by the medieval miracle plays.

PUBLIC LOVE MAKING

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois

They are apparently more conservative and more conventional in China than we are here in America. The city government of Hankow has recently enacted a law prohibiting out-door kissing even between husbands and wives, the reason for this seemingly radical enforcement of the law being perhaps that when one sees these public demonstrations of uncontrolled emotion it is impossible to tell without embarrassing inquiry just what the exact blood relationship, if any, there is between the osculating parties.

The first victims, according to reports, have been Mr. and Mrs. Chen Ching-hung, a newly married pair. They were driving in an open carriage when a policeman saw Mr. Chen kiss his bride. Both were arrested. Mr. Chen was fined $25, and he and his wife were forced to furnish bondsmen, who guaranteed that the newlyweds will not again offend the proprieties.

I believe that such a law might prove salutary in our own country. Husbands and wives do not seem to be our most serious offenders, but one need not go far to find others who use public places to do their love making.

Once upon a time it was not considered good taste for young people, married or otherwise, to be seen on the street or in a public place of any sort, holding hands, or with their arms about each other's necks, but it is quite the common sight today. It hardly attracts a moment's attention these days to come upon two lovers sitting contentedly in some frequented spot, their arms about each other's waists, or with a strange hold about the neck, nor does it deter or embarrass the lovers thus to be come upon. There is no relaxing of the pressure, nor the slightest change of countenance or color because they are discovered. They keep right on unabashed. "But why not?" you may say, since there is no law in this country against it.

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

The Polar Spin

If people resided at, or on, the North and South poles, they would get much less of a "ride" each twenty-four hours than those at the equator.

A circle at the pole might be only a foot in circumference, while at the equator the earth is 25,000 miles in girth. As the whole earth revolves once daily, the polar resident gets the shorter ride.

tion these days to come upon two lovers sitting contentedly in some frequented spot, their arms about each other's waists, or with a strange hold about the neck, nor does it deter or embarrass the lovers thus to be come upon. There is no relaxing of the pressure, nor the slightest change of countenance or color because they are discovered. They keep right on unabashed. "But why not?" you may say, since there is no law in this country against it.

In the community in which I live I could easily pick out all the engaged couples. They go hand in hand down the street or across the park. They are never detached; each has tight hold upon the other like an officer of the law leading a convict to the "hoosegow." Even when they are going from one place to another in an automobile, she does not leave him free to guide the conveyance in an unnumbered way. She either throws herself upon his bosom or winds her arms about his neck in order that he may have no doubt that she loves him. One cannot drive these days along any public highway without meeting these entangled lovers at almost every crossroad.

Husbands and wives with us still in general confine their show of affection to the privacy of the home, but young lovers are gradually breaking down all reserve. One finds them everywhere—in some dark corner at a social function, in dimly-lighted booths in confectioneries, in cars parked at the roadside, on unshaded porches, and out in the open glare of the mid-day sun exchanging their embraces. City treasures would soon be filled if like China we should enforce a law against such unconventional practices.

Timely Farm and Garden Topics

By C. L. KUTIL

Grow All Dairy Feed Possible

There are dairymen who keep themselves poor hauling milk or cream to market, and then hauling back home feed that costs about as much as the milk and cream brings. This is bad business. Use home-grown feeds. A top-dressing of manure on the pasture at this time will do wonders. A light application of about 100 pounds of sodium nitrate per acre is equally as good. If done now. How about that good alfalfa or red clover hay for next year's crop? Are you planning to seed a sufficient acreage of legumes in your barley or oats this spring? Good legume hay will save you money when buying milk feeds. Nobody ever got very far in dairying by buying most of the feed.

Dormant Spray for Fruit Trees

The dormant spray to kill scale insects should be applied to the trees at this time of the year—when the weather is not at freezing temperatures and the leaf buds have not yet started to show leaves. The best approved and the latest method is to spray the dormant trees with about a 7 per cent solution of an especially prepared oil emulsion. One gallon of oil emulsion to 14 gallons of water should spray about 20 to 30 trees, depending on their size. The Agriculture department at your high school has the oil. It can be bought there at cost by residents of the school district and other patrons of the school.

High School Has Corn Grader

If your corn planter does not plant a regular number of kernels in every hill, it's because your corn is not graded. The department of vocational agriculture at the Antioch High school has a seed corn grader that will separate seed corn into tip kernels, butt kernels, and three grades of corn from the main part of the ear. The use of this grader is free to farmers. They can either bring their corn to be graded or take the machine home to do the work. Since the machine may be in use, it is advisable to bring the corn and have the boys do the grading, or make an application and we will call you up when the machine is available.

Plant Best Varieties of Early Potatoes

The four best varieties of early potatoes to plant are as follows: Early Ohio, Irish Cobbler, Triumph, and Early Rose. It hardly pays to plant home-grown seed in Illinois.

The Oldest "Lassie"

Field Major Emma Westbrook, eighty-six, the sole survivor of the pioneer party of one man and seventy losses of the Salvation army that landed in the United States in 1880. The picture was taken on the occasion of the golden jubilee of the army's work in this country.

Northern grown seed should be used to insure success.

D. H. MINTO HONORED AT FATHER-SON BANQUET

One of the highlights of the seventh annual Father and Son banquet held under the auspices of the department of vocational agriculture at the Antioch Township High school last Friday night was the presentation of a certificate of honorary recognition to D. H. Minto as a reward for his splendid services in the field of agriculture.

Mr. Minto, who was prominent among the organizers of the association, served as its president for a number of years. He also assisted in the formation of the Lake County Farm Supply company, of which he is now secretary.

Outlining the philosophy of life, Edward M. Tuttle, editor-in-chief of the Book of Rural Life, Chicago, was the speaker of the evening. His remarks were well received by both the dads and sons.

C. L. Kull acted as toastmaster. There were about a hundred present.

MRS. BLACKMAN HOSTESS TO MOTHERS' CLUB TUESDAY

Mrs. John M. Blackman, Victoria street, was hostess to members of the Mothers' club at her home Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. George Garland gave a report of the Child Welfare convention in Chicago, which she attended, and Mrs. Rex Bonser rendered several songs and vocal solos. A committee, consisting of Mrs. L. O. Bright, Rex Bonser, and Nason Sibley, was appointed to make arrangements for the Mother-daughter banquet to be held here on May 7. Concluding the program, Mrs. Sibley, on behalf of the club, presented Mrs. Garland with a beautiful bouquet of flowers. Delightful refreshments were served by the hostess.

LOCAL REBEKAHS TO OBSERVE DISTRICT OFFICERS' NIGHT

Members of Lakeside Rebekah lodge No. 82 will observe District Officers' night at the Woodman hall tomorrow night. Guests from other lodges will be present. Among them will be Mrs. Grace Baisrow, Waukegan, who is vice-president of the Rebekah State Assembly of Illinois.

A regular meeting of the Channel Lake P. T. A. was held at the school on Tuesday evening. There were twenty-five present.

The grand opening of St. Peter's new hall will take place Saturday night, April 5, at which time there will be a chicken dinner served and unusual entertainment provided.

Miss Vera Down has entered the local high school from Waukegan.

Mrs. Gladys Ames And Oliver Hughes Named Enumerators

Bohemia, which was at that time a part of the Austro-Hungarian empire, the census enumerator will put down Czechoslovakia as the person's birthplace, although no such country existed when the person was born. If the person was born in Bessarabia 30 years ago and his father was born in exactly the same place 30 years before that, the person will probably tell the census taker that his father was born in Turkey while he was born in Russia, but as a matter of fact Rumania was the birthplace of both.

If both the person and his parents were born in the United States, the answer will be fairly easy, because all the enumerator will have to do is to put down the state or territory in which the person was born, and there have been comparatively few changes in state boundary lines or names within the lifetime of people now living. If a person was born in the Old Indian Territory, the birthplace should go down on the census records as Oklahoma, its present name.

Both the population and farm schedules have been devised for the purpose of getting some necessary and definite knowledge on the human, economic, and industrial conditions of the United States. All information given is strictly confidential.

Absent Family Schedule
The Bureau of the Census in Washington has asked the supervisor of this district, Mrs. Estelle Northam, to broadcast the information that if any family expects to be absent from home during the month of April they should write or telephone the Bureau of the Census headquarters for this district, which is located in Evanston, to send the absent family schedule to them. This should be filled out and returned to the Bureau or left with anyone who may be in the home when the enumerator calls. This is requested so that no one will be left out of the count when the population report of his community is given.

"Heal thy" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 30.

The Golden Text was, "The counsel of the Lord standeth for ever, the thoughts of his heart to all generations" (Psalms 33:11).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "We give thanks to God and the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, praying always for you, that ye might walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleasing, being fruitful in every good work, and increasing in the knowledge of God" (Col. 1:3, 10).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Material sense does not unfold the facts of existence, but spiritual sense lifts human consciousness into eternal truth" (p. 65).

time as sheriff, Doolittle has retained his father as deputy. In the event of his election the present sheriff will no doubt serve his father in the same capacity, thus keeping the office in the family and side-stepping the legal provision that a man cannot succeed himself as sheriff.

Brown Popular Candidate

The surprise in the sheriff race may be the vote rolled up next Tuesday by Edward A. Brown, Axon supervisor, who has not had the handicap of carrying through the campaign a record as a county officer. History may repeat itself, as the political men say, and while his four opponents are combing the north shore for votes, Brown, carrying on a quiet but thorough campaign, may come through with the plum on April 8. Anyway, you can bet all the tea in China that Brown is going to be near the top when the ballots are counted next Tuesday.

Persons and Petty Favored

That Judge Perry L. Parsons, candidate for re-election as county judge, will be victorious over Charles E. Jack, whom the Judge defeated eight years ago, is belloyed by backers of the jurist who has been on the county bench for 19 years, who states his only campaign pledge is his oath of office, and he says it vehemently, or did so until Monday night at the Petty meeting at the armory in Waukegan. The Judge is a good politician, at least he seems to think he holds a "pat" hand.

Attorney Jack, in his campaign utterances, cites conditions he asks the voters to consider before making up their minds to continue Judge Parsons in office. Jack is rated as a good attorney, also a good campaigner, and Judge Parsons' hand may not prove to be so "pat" when the ballots are counted next Tuesday, according to those who favor a change in the office of county judge.

"SALUTE", FAMOUS MOVIETONE, TO BE SEEN IN ANTIOCH

A Fox Movietone all-talking picture, "Salute," played against the romantic backgrounds of Annapolis and West Point, comes to the Antioch theatre on Monday and Tuesday, April 7 and 8 for Antioch Post No. 743 American Legion. It was directed by John Ford, and it is said to be packed with drama and thrills.

The story is by one of America's most popular authors, Tristrom Tupper, and John Stone, expert writer for the audible screen. Two months publican candidates for county superintendent of schools eight years ago when Miss Alice Smith lost the nomination to T. A. Simpson by less than 300 votes, as an indication that rural districts desired a change, backers of the candidacy of W. C. Petty believe the Antioch school principal will be victor by a large majority at the primary next Tuesday. Simpson has held the office for six consecutive terms, nearly 24 years.

were spent in filming action on the original locations. The cast obviously was hand-picked. The picture's climax reaches its height in an Army-Navy football classic at the Polo Grounds, New York City.

"Salute" is a gripping, sincere drama of two boys and two girls, told in a refreshingly different way. It would seem from reports. One boy, George O'Brien, is an athletic hero at West Point—an All-American half-back. O'Brien's brother, William Janney, is a midshipman at Annapolis, a dreamer who neither understands nor is interested in his brother's get-what-you-go-after attitude.

Doolittle for Sheriff

DURING the past few weeks the voters of Lake County have been bombarded with literature and arguments from the various candidates for political office. Many charges and countercharges have been made, but in no case has the management of the Sheriff's Office during the past three years been criticised.

The residents of Lake County's Rural and Lake Region Districts who have been kept unmolested by the hoodlum and gangster element of Chicago; the owners of country homes and estates, who have been protected against willful destroyers of wild life and property; the dairy farmers who have at times found themselves at conflict with unfair methods to hammer down the price paid for their product—all these, as well as other citizens of Lake County know that the election of Doolittle will insure a continuance of fairness and lawfulness throughout the County.

The other candidates for Sheriff have made a very thorough canvass of the County, a privilege Doolittle could not enjoy, attention to his public duties preventing. However, for the many courtesies and manifestations of support received during the campaign sincere appreciation and thanks are hereby offered.

If you favor a continuance of the work now being performed by the Sheriff's Office of Lake County, do not fail to go to the polls next Tuesday, April 8th, and vote for

MR. WILBUR GLENN VOLIVA
ZION, ILLINOIS

My Dear Mr. Voliva:

I understand that over the radio yesterday, you announced among others, that you and your followers were supporting Elmer Green for Sheriff of Lake County, and have instructed your followers to cast their vote at the primaries, to be held on April 8th, 1930, for Mr. Elmer Green.

First: I want to go on record with you, Mr. Voliva, and your followers, by stating that I am not in politics. I do not seek any office, never have, and never will.

Second: My interest in this campaign, is concentrated upon County affairs, as I am personally interested and have charge of real estate in this County, involving millions of dollars.

Conditions confronting Lake County are very serious, and I am quite sure that a man of your standing, to come out as you have, and endorse Mr. Green, which you have a right to, but under the circumstances, I am quite sure, you have personally failed to give this matter your most careful consideration. By investigating the records and character and past performance of the various candidates, for should you have made a personal investigation, you certainly could not have endorsed Mr. Green as you have done, keeping in mind that you have the interests of all the citizens of Lake County at heart, in so far as law and order, and ability is concerned for the benefit and good for the entire community.

You have ample time to make an investigation and if it is your intention of doing what is best, not only for your own community, but for the entire community, you can correct what I consider a very big mistake, and set the people in Lake County right, by using your radio and go over the record and character of each of the candidates, and allow the community to use their own judgment, as to which of these candidates are best qualified and suited for the position of Sheriff of Lake County.

Your personal standing, and your honorable followers, in my opinion, are such that you cannot lend yourself to any person who does not measure up to the qualifications of the office of Sheriff, and whose past record is subject to severe criticism, and then expect to hold the high opinion of the entire community for you and your followers that you have enjoyed in the past.

If you are too busy to make the investigation, and if you do not find the results of such an investigation will prove to you that the only candidate who is qualified for the position of Sheriff, and the only candidate whose past record is immune from any criticism, and the only candidate who is absolutely independent, free from any promises, or affiliations with any clique, or political organization, and one who has never done anything in any way, manner, shape or form, that was unbecomingly an act of a gentleman, who is no other than Lester T. Tiffany, I will be glad indeed to donate one thousand dollars to any charitable institution you might name.

As above stated, you have time to make this investigation, and you have the right to cast your vote for Mr. Green, personally, but I do take the liberty to challenge your right, on account of your vote for Mr. Green, and the confidence your followers have in you, to come out in the open way the position you hold, and the confidence your followers have in you, to give your followers the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, as to the record, the ability, and qualifications of each and every one of the candidates; which, in my opinion, is the only honorable and truthful way for you or any other person in your same position to do and expect the community at large to believe in and respect you.

I am quite sure with the ample time you have before you, as an honest and honorable man, you will only be too glad to give this matter further consideration, and not allow your personal or, if I may say, your selfish reason to withhold the truth from your devoted followers, and most honorable community, who look to you for the truth and the facts, for it is my opinion, in your endorsement of Mr. Green, you have not taken into consideration the welfare of law and order, qualifications, merit of Mr. Green, which is to the benefit of, not only to you and your followers, but to every one of the other candidates which is to the benefit of, not only to you and your followers, but to every one of the honorable and honest citizens of Lake County. An investigation will prove beyond a doubt that the above statement will convince you that the one candidate who is immune from criticism, and whose past record and qualifications will bring about the overwhelming endorsement and election of Lester T. Tiffany. I stand ready, if you so desire, to discuss this matter in person or in an open debate, at any hour, any time, or any place you may elect.

Kindly read the copies of a letter sent out by a few of the most honorable citizens of Lake County, to their personal friends, as well as a copy of a letter I sent out to my personal friends, and all I ask that the Good Lord will guide you in your judgment for the benefit of your community and the community at large, and let your conscience be your guide.

I beg to remain, your honorable Sir, your most humble servant, for Peace, Law, Order, and

Truth,

ERNEST MAYER.

PUBLIC IS PLEASED WITH NORTH SHORE LINE'S NEW CARS

Main Feature Comprises Individual "Easy-Chair" Seats

TOTAL COST IS $850,000

Enthusiastic approval is being voiced by the traveling public over the comfort and convenience of the 25 new all-steel passenger coaches placed in limited service between Milwaukee and Chicago by the North Shore Line on Saturday, March 15. The coaches cost approximately $850,000 and are the last word in the builders' art.

The outstanding feature of these new coaches comprises the individual easy-chair seats upholstered in Byzantine plush. These seats give passengers on the North Shore Line all the comforts of a parlor car at regular fare. With this new equipment in service, all limited trains operated by the "Road of Service" between Chicago and Milwaukee are 100 per cent easy-chair cars.

Other features of the new cars which combine to give the rider the utmost in travel luxury include a double heating system (hot water and electric) thermostatically controlled, two toilets and a smoking compartment in each car, an auxiliary lighting system for emergencies, larger windows increasing visibility for passengers, and individual ventilators in each window, as well as electric fans and ceiling ventilators in each car. Each car has four motors with a total of 560 horsepower, and weighs 51 tons. Improved air-brake equipment and motor control are important mechanical features.

Thousands of residents in Waukegan, Kenosha, Racine and Milwaukee inspected five-car trains of the new equipment on Friday, March 14, when the new cars were placed on public exhibit in these cities. Officials of the North Shore Line journeyed from Chicago to Milwaukee aboard a five-car train of the new cars on Friday, stopping enroute at various cities where the cars were on exhibit and greeting prominent citizens who came to inspect the equipment. The officials attended a luncheon sponsored by the Milwaukee Traffic club in the "Cream City." Bernard J. Fallon, Vice-President in charge of operation on the North Shore Line, spoke at the luncheon, voicing his confidence in the future

Two years ago Lee McDonough sought support for State Representative on the promise that he would faithfully represent the Counties of Lake, McHenry and Boone.

As a background Lee McDonough pointed out that he had been a Waukegan business man for 41 years; that he had been Lake County Treasurer during 1914-1918. At the end of his term the Waukegan Daily News said:

News Editorial

"THIS IS A QUEER AGE when ordinary honesty, which SHOULD be taken for granted in any business, is so rare as to receive a great deal of praise. Yet that situation is just what confronts Lake county. Since 1902 Lee McDonough has been the only county treasurer who has not undergone an official investigation of his actions as the guardian of the peoples' money. Well, Lee, we think you were more than a reliable public servant at the time, but it is beginning to look as though you set something of a record."

—Waukegan Daily News

News Item

When he turned over his office in 1918 McDonough's four year report showed earnings of $70,000.00. Prior to this the earnings for the four years had never exceeded $9,000."

—Waukegan Daily News.

Lee McDonough is the only Representative from this district who passed any bills at the last session of the legislature—and Lee McDonough sponsored four—all of which benefited Lake County. These were:

1. A bill which appropriates $14,430.00 per year for the maintenance of the Illinois Free Employment Bureau. This office is in Waukegan and offers free service to the employer and employee in all parts of Lake county.
2. A school act which provides that a new high school district can be created within an existing one. It may be done in any part of the state by petition of the citizens.
3. An appropriation of $25,000 to repair the dam in the Fox river.
4. An act which validates the North Shore Sanitary District.

The Legislative Voters League, which recommends Lee McDonough's re-election, had the following to say in the last Assembly Bulletin:

L. V. L. Endorsement

Eighth District
(Counties of Boone, Lake and McHenry)

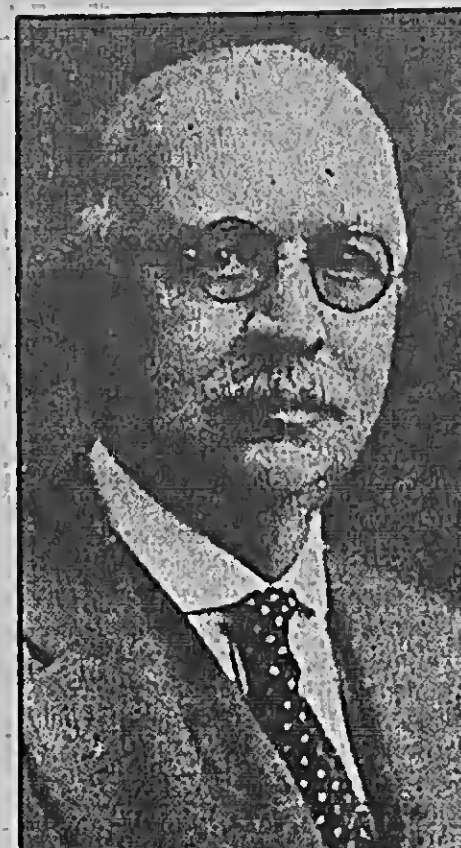

Lee McDonough, representative (Rep.); plumbing and heating contractor; Waukegan. Is ending his first term; an active and substantial member who showed good judgment in voting and gave creditable service as a member of a special committee that made a valuable report dealing with the evils of double job-holding; made a good record for a new legislator.

Lee McDonough is running on his record. His name is third on the ballot under Representative in the General Assembly. A cross before his name will give you HONEST and PRODUCTIVE representation. On April 8th vote:

X Lee McDonough
Republican Candidate For Re-election as State

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS

of the Eighth Senatorial District

My candidacy for renomination is based on my record as a member of the Illinois Legislature. The record shows that I have stood for more hard roads without expense to the general taxpayers, for a more equitable distribution of taxes to relieve the owners of farms and small homes, for every reasonable relief for agriculture, for economy in state expenditures so that local taxes will be lower and against the scheme of Chicago to redistrict the state and thereby transfer perpetual control of our state to Chicago and its unsavory political gangs.

I am asking for your continued support confident in the belief that I can render further useful service to the people of our district because of the valuable experience and knowledge gained during the years I have served you.

To the question, "What magazines do Antioch people read?" all the dealers in town with the exception of one, said that True Story magazine outsells any other monthly. Second and third places were given to Western Story and Good Housekeeping. Lake County's Candidate

Colonel Ashbel V. Smith For Congress Tenth Congressional District

LAKE COUNTY HAS NEVER HAD A REPRESENTATIVE IN CONGRESS

As part of the Tenth District it has for fifty years furnished the majorities which elected a Cook County man. The time is ripe for a change. The Chicago wards in the District now recognize Lake County's claim to be represented. A large vote for Colonel Smith in this County, with the assistance of Chicago, will elect Lake County's Candidate.

VOTE FOR COLONEL SMITH. He stands for the Mid-west Manufacturer,

The Ex-service Man,
The Laborer,
The Farmer,
The Man paying a tax on a moderate income.

He knows the problems of his district and will work for their solution.

Indorsed by many organizations including:

Illinois Republican Service Men's League,
The Illinois State Federation of Labor,
The Woman's Republican Club of Evanston,
The North Shore Woman's Republican Club.

stands almost exclusively, while the other magazines have a large subscription list. True stories are advertised over the radio at regular hours each week.

In answering another question, "What type and class of people read the True Story magazine?" all but one cried out, "You'd be surprised; all kinds and classes of people read them."

Liberty Most Popular Weekly

For the most popular weekly magazine, Liberty was given first place, with Saturday Evening Post and Colliers crowding for second. The advertising department of Liberty boasts that theirs is the largest stand circulation, while the Saturday Evening Post is sold by regular Post boys and through subscriptions. Colliers, too, has a considerable subscription list.

Antioch's taste for beautiful homes and yards must be the result of a natural liking and ability to create, because such periodicals as Your Home and Better Homes and Gardens are much in demand over news counters. All local dealers said they noticed an increase in the sale of this type of magazine.

Many Don't Sell

Publications like Mercury, Golden Book, Scribner's, etc., are not sold to any extent—but take heart—neither are Snappy Stories or the Breezy magazines. Some merchants do not even handle the latter type. One said that the most read magazine among high school fellows was Popular Mechanics. This is probably because it is rich in material for boys who can't see any good reason for parting with fifty cents for a magazine.

All Mr. Coolidge has to decide is whether a Senate seat would mean going backward or going back.

Carl R. Chindblom

Candidate for Re-Nomination

Primary April 8, 1930

The Chicago Daily News, in a dispatch from Washington, D. C., March 27, 1930, under the heading: "Voting Record in House set by Chindblom," said the following:

"Representative Carl R. Chindblom has been recorded 'absent' on less than 1 per cent of the roll calls in the House of Representatives since he entered that body on March 4, 1915. The roll was called 1,815 times and Mr. Chindblom's vote was registered on 1,694 of these ballots.

"Tribute to the record of service of Mr. Chindblom was paid today by Representative Tilson, Republican floor leader, who characterized the Chicagoan as 'one of the most valuable legislators in Congress.'"

I Respectfully Solicit Your Vote

and co-operation for my nomination as your Republican Candidate for Sheriff of Lake County--

Primaries Tuesday, April 8, 1930

Here Is My Position, Platform, and Promises:

MY RECORD HAS NOT ONLY BEEN OPEN FOR INVESTIGATION AND CRITICISM, as you know, but the citizens of Lake County are entitled to proper protection and unbiased administration, which I pledged to give them.

THE WOMEN OF LAKE COUNTY ARE ENTITLED TO RESPECT AND COURTESY, and my records show that I realized this by appointing a woman police sergeant in Lake Forest when I took charge of the Lake Forest Police Department. You may rest assured if you elect me there will be a woman deputy sheriff, not only to take care of the women who come under my charge, but to console with with them.

MY ACTION IN APPOINTING A WOMAN SERGEANT IN LAKE FOREST should convince you that I am the originator of respecting the unfortunate women who come under police surveillance.

IF NOMINATED, I WILL BE ABSOLUTELY FREE FROM ANY PROMISES TO ANY PERSON OR PERSONS OR ORGANIZATIONS, AND PLEDGE MYSELF TO BE FAIR AND JUST TO ALL CITIZENS OF LAKE COUNTY—SHOW NO PARTIALITY BUT JUSTICE AND EQUALITY TO ALL, REGARDLESS OF POLITICAL ORGANIZATIONS OR CREED.

County of Lake,) ss
State of Ill.)

I, Edward D. Shurtleff, Circuit Judge, in and for said County in the State aforesaid, DO HEREBY CERTIFY, that Lester T. Tiffany, personally known to me to be the same person whose name, subscribed to the foregoing statement, appeared before me this day in person and acknowledged that he signed the above statement that will be published, setting forth his principles as Republican candidate for sheriff of Lake County. Primaries, April 8th, 1930.

Given under my hand and seal, this 31st day of March, A. D. 1930.

(SEAL)

EDWARD D. SHURTLEFF
Circuit Judge

I FURTHER PROMISE THAT THE PATRONAGE that comes under the jurisdiction of the sheriff shall be distributed throughout the county, everything being equal, whether it be at the remote end of the county or next door to the sheriff's office. As county funds and purchasing power belong to the people in Lake County as a whole, I will see that there is equal and just distribution.

Whether I am your candidate or not, I urge you to do your duty as a good citizen—go to the polls on April the 8th and cast your vote.

IT HAS BEEN RUMORED BY MY OPPONENTS that I have made certain promises to certain people. These rumors are absolutely false, malicious and without any foundation, and to convince you of my sincerity I attach herto an affidavit that I am free from all promises to any persons or organizations and that there will be no deputies appointed under me while sheriff other than those that have a clean record; free from all affiliations of political organizations of any kind whatsoever. Only such deputies will be appointed that receive the highest endorsement from the majority of the citizens, regardless of political organizations or creed, from the community in which they reside. Only deputies will be appointed that are necessary and that will be active.

Yours for Law and Order districts, an appropriation of $25,000 to repair the dam in Fox river, and an act validating the North Shore Sanitary district. Representative McDonough served on important committees, and there is no record that he ever sought factional endorsements, but on the contrary he believes his services belong to his district and not to the factions or influential individuals.

Another fine record made at the last session of the general assembly was that of Representative Richard J. Lyons. Lyons never missed a roll-call during the entire session, and both he and Representative McDonough have been highly commended by the Illinois Legislative Voters' League. Lyons believes representatives are elected and sent to Springfield to attend to business, and that is what the records show he did at the last session.
Due to the excellent record of both men it is believed they will have little difficulty in retaining their seats in the general assembly.

RAIN

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois

It is raining as I write this—a gentle rain that sinks into the ground and disappears as it falls. Nothing else is so restful as a rain; nothing so quieting to the nerves. I should not like to live in a place where it does not rain regularly. I have just been reading an article in praise of the climate of California.

"Picture to yourself," it says, "what a difference is made in your habits, your moods, your whole adjustment to life, when you know that for at least four months of the year—June to October—no rain will fall."
I have the picture. Dust in the air, hill-sides brown and scarred; vegetation everywhere drying up excepting as some one stands with a hose in his hands and sprinkles the lawn and the flower beds. A hot sun beating down upon one and no hope of rain for four months to cool off the atmosphere; grass, and shrubs, and flowers burned brown and dead excepting where some faithful hand gives them regular attention! A dry wind blowing the yellow dust into one's eyes! It makes no appeal to me. I like variety; I like the soft mist against my face; I like to hear the drops beating upon the roof or against the window panes; I thoroughly enjoy rain, and some way, in spite of the absence of rubbers and rain coats and umbrellas, I seldom seem to get wet.

Nothing artificial can ever refresh the vegetable world as a good rain does. The air smells better, tastes better, and seems to penetrate more deeply into the lungs after a rain. I can work with more enthusiasm, with more concentration and with more energy during a rain. When the rain is falling outside it gives opportunity to finish the uncompleted task; to get the down to something that has been waiting for attention for days or weeks.

When I was a boy, on the farm a rainy day was a period to be looked forward to. Before the hard work of farm life had fastened itself upon me, a rainy day was a play day. We cut all sorts of capers in the hay loft as the rain pattered down upon the roof above us; or we went fishing. It was thought that the fish would bite more ravenously upon a rainy day. Many have been the ways it was rare sport to sit upon the bank of the creek all huddled up and watch the carps on our fishing lines bobbing up and down.

I have always liked to read, and as I look back upon the years that have passed it seems to me that much of the reading that I have done since the time I was ten years old has been done while the rain was coming down outside and other tasks for the time being set aside.

Not I like sunshine and I take pleasure in clear weather, but I don't want to live where it doesn't rain. Absence of rain would take away half the pleasure of life.

Twenty-six Cars of Motor
Oil In One Shipment
From Refinery

What is said to be one of the largest single trainload shipments ever made by an oil company to jobbers in any one state, was made last Monday when a solid trainload of Shell products, made up of eighteen box cars of refined petroleum products left the Wood River, Illinois, refinery of the corporation, for North Carolina for distribution to jobbers in that territory.

The increasing demand for Shell products in the southeastern market made it necessary to make up this trainload shipment of approximately 1500 barrels or 85,000 gallons, and more than 5000 pounds of grease, in response to "Rush" orders from the many Shell distributors in the North Carolina territory, according to company officials.

In Tune with the World

"Let me make the songs of a people, and let who will make their laws," so one wise man has expressed the importance of music. Music is the universal language. It is understood, appreciated by, and inspires all people; leaping the barriers of difference in language, race, color and creed. Because of its universality it is one of the great forces working toward universal peace and understanding.

Every people, every nation has its music; an understanding and appreciation of this music gives us an understanding and appreciation of its people.

Nature has endowed every individual with a love of music. It is the natural expression of our emotions. Each one of us responds to some strain, tune or melody. Because of this, music should be encouraged in our homes, in our schools, in our churches—everywhere in our community.

Music is a necessity of life in every community. An investment in music yields rich dividends in the way of delightful entertainment and the joys of living. Fortunately, good music is within the reach of every one today.

Every home should be "in tune with the world." Every family should be afforded the opportunity of enjoying the best in music, for modern music conserves the home.

Such modern miracles—as the phonograph, the player piano and the radio—enable every member of the family circle to gain a better appreciation and understanding of music.

All children should have the opportunity to develop their musical talent, every home should possess one or more musical instruments. The talented youth should be given proper instruction by music teachers in our music schools.

It is the duty of every community to provide its citizens with a civic band, or orchestra. Every community should have a director of music in its schools, teaching appreciation and knowledge of music, furnishing voice and instrumental training.

STORY FROM THE START

Returning to America, during the War of 1812, after a successful voyage, Capt. Lion Fellowes, merchant ship Sachem, is sunk off Portugal by a British frigate. The crew, including Fellowes, is rescued by an English-speaking girl who conceals her identity. He learns from her, however, that she is about to set out for Lisbon. Fellowes goes to Lisbon, hoping to find a vessel America-bound. He meets Capt. Chater, of the American ship True Bounty, an acquaintance. Chater offers him a berth as mate. Fellowes refuses, knowing Chater is disloyal in trading with the enemy. He meets the girl who saved his life, Clara Inglepin, daughter of the owner of the True Bounty.

"There's much in what you say," Fellowes owned. "I'm loath to disoblige you, ma'am. But 'tis wartime, and I'd not care to betray my sentiments."

Miss Inglepin blushed crimson; her slim body stiffened.

"And we have no wish to 'betray' you, sir," she said coldly.

"You mistake my meaning, ma'am," protested Fellowes, much perturbed. "I merely tried to make it clear that in accepting your offer I was not abandoning my own opinions."

"Now, now, there isn't any call to be let up over a misunderstanding! We want a mate, and we want Capt. Fellowes for the job—and he won't need to complain over his treatment," Chater struck in.

"But Captain Fellowes must decide for himself," insisted Miss Inglepin.

"And he must decide in light of the fact—"

"Don't say nothing ye'd be sorry for, Miss Clara," warned Chater.

"In light of the fact," she continued, ignoring the interruption, "that we are Federalists, heart-and-soul, and utterly opposed to this wicked, senseless war, and its attempt to cripple Britain at a time when she is fighting for the freedom of mankind against the vilest tyrant in history."

The vehemence of her declaration took Fellowes' breath away, arousing in him a respect all the greater for the concern Chater displayed.

"If you feel so, ma'am, I can but applaud your honesty in admitting it," he said. "Shall we elect to forget politics? And will it please you that I accept Captain Chater's offer?"

She swallowed hard, a suspicion of tears in her eyes.

"It will not please me," she answered. "And yet—and yet—you had best come. Good afternoon, sir. Captain Chater will escort you aboard."

And she swept regally into the hotel, the monstrous attendant waddling at her heels. Chater whistled pleasantly.

"Now, now! You don't want to set too much store by winning's talk. 'Tis a lot on her mind, Miss Clara has. First off, her tin died. And then the war came, and her pa sent for her. And when she came back here her grandpa, he up and died. Fine old feller, Markess da'Perenna."

"But what did she mean by saying it didn't please her for me to ship with you? And then saying I must come?"

Chater performed a very creditable leer.

"Easy to see ye ain't had much to do with young winnins, friend. They talk all round the clock, I tell ye. And Miss Clara's spilled a mite. Her pa jest dotes on her, and her ma's family are grand folks. 'Heap of money comin' to her.' He cackled merrily.

"Forty-two money's as good as any, heh? Yes, sirree, Ben Inglepin, he knowed what he was doin' when he married Donna Rossi."

"I don't care what she has," snapped Fellowes. "Unless it's a better disposition. Shall we go off to the ship? I ought to learn something of my duties, if I sail tomorrow."

"That's what I call a proper spirit," fawned Chater. "We'll get on rust rate, Cap'n Fellowes."

A stout craft, and well-found, the True Bounty. The crew were of a piece with their captain, dour New Englanders and Long Islanders from "Down East," ardent Federalists to a man. Without a word of politics, Fellowes understood that he was alone in his opinion, spiritually isolated from the ship's company. Nor could all Chater's oily civility dispel his instinctive distrust of his skipper. A distrust which was accentuated—perhaps unfairly, he admitted secretly—by his uneasiness over Clara Inglepin's attitude.

She had as good as told him she was disloyal. But then, he argued with himself, the candor of her declaration was an earnest of essential honesty. As for her visit to Wellington, that might conceivably be dismissed as in connection with her grandfather's affairs—or to clear up some matter of business between her father and the British authorities in the past. Yet, on the other hand, if all this was so, why had she wavered with him at the last? Why had his careless use of the word "betray" aroused such a tempest?

The True Bounty slipped out over Tagus bar, and by sunset had sunk the look of Lisbon under the eastern horizon. The third day of the voyage Fellowes discovered the course had been altered to fetch the ship far north of the Western Islands, which he knew, were regular ports of call for all vessels plying to and from southern Europe. Inquiry informed him the neighborhood of the islands had become a regular cruising-ground for American privateers, as they provided a base within easy striking-distance of the converging routes of the British convoys from the West Indies and South America and the lordly East India men of John Company's fleet. Evidently Chater was fighting shy of his own countrymen.

Hated, as he was, from any bond of sympathy with his brother officers, it was inevitable that Fellowes should be thrown more and more in Miss Inglepin's company. And she, on her part, made no secret of her preference for the Long Islander. She was like a child in her craving for entertainment, absorbing eagerly his hoard of experiences. He painted for her fever-ridden factories of the West African coast, jungle rivers where the ton-toms thrashed the night long and parried. "A true Democratic word," "No, our watchword is loyalty," he declared with feeling.

"Loyalty to what?" she mocked him. "To a pack of buckskin politicians and tavern orators?"

"To an ideal—Independence," he exclaimed, irritated. "But what can you know of that, who are intimate with our enemies, and think as they do? I saw you with Lord Wellington in Lisbon, heard you talking with him."

Her face blanched; the fingers by which she hung to the rigging whitened under pressure.

"Sir," she said quietly, "you may think as you please of that. I shall say nothing."

And she quitted the deck before he could answer her, leaving him vexed by his own impetuosity and admiring the way in which she had taken it.

He tasted humbly as he trod the deck, keeping the early watch after dark, too drowsy to notice her when she came from the cabin, a fluttering wreath in the golden yellow cloak she wore when the air was chill.

His first warning of her was the pressure of her fingers on his arm.

"Lion," she said, and his heart leaped a beat at that. "Lion! There was a little choke in her voice. 'Lion,' she gasped a third time.

He caught her arm. "I'd cut my tongue out," he muttered hoarsely. "'Tis your secret."

"But I was wrong," she persisted. "I don't want you to think—as you please. I want you to believe—to believe—that I wouldn't do anything dishonorable. Truly, Lion!"

His arms wound about her, as their lips met, suddenly. Then she was gone from him, a shadow in the darkness.

slayers anchored beside stinking barracoons, the icy tempests that beat about the Horn, and the languorous seas beyond. For her part, she gave him glimpses of a world equally exotic, spoke of adventures in the Pavilion at Brighton when the Prince Regent was condescending, narrated anecdotes, said and humorous, of the stuffy Portuguese court.

There was inherent in her a fine and graceful reticence. And she impressed him more and more as unqualifiedly honest. She was a normal product of the background against which usually prevented them from dietary blend of the social forces of the Old world and the New.

She was, too, a keen politician and delighted to argue with him, although she was scrupulous to treat their differences with a lightness of touch which she had been reared, a contraguarding.

"Aye do not," she sighed one day toward the end of the voyage. "I cannot afford to quarrel with you, sir. I should die of ennui without your company."

"What will you say of me when I am a privateer?"

"I'll say what I think," she retorted, blushing. "But you'll not go, if I can stay you."

"You'd have me bide at home with the cravens?"

"Why?" she hesitated. "I think all men of parts will find sufficient to occupy them before another year is out. We are on the verge of great events. 'Twill have had its use, perhaps, this war. But there! My tongue is runagate."

"Do you speak of rebellion?" he pressed. "'Tis an ugly thought."

"'Tis your word, not mine," she parried. "A true Democratic word," "No, our watchword is loyalty," he declared with feeling.

CHAPTER III

Crimpin' Collishawe

Fellowes was happier than he had been for months. Tramping the poop, he hummed a tune, thinking how lucky he had been: saved from the Sachem, and conversely, from months, maybe years, in Dartmoor; meeting Clara—and home just over the horizon's rim. Clara—and home! Her Federalist leanings he brushed aside.

As his wife—"Sally!"

He snatched a glass from the binocular rack and climbed into the mizen-shrouds. The morning was clear; he had no difficulty in making out the stranger, a lofty pile of canvas, driving down toward the True Bounty.

"Call Captain Chater," he barked the deck, and Chater promptly popped out of the cabin-companionway almost as if he had expected the summons.

"A man-of-war, Captain," Fellowes reported.

"Aye," he pronounced cheerfully. "she's the Badger ship-of-war, Captain Collishawe."

"Collishawe," repeated Fellowes. "Crimpin' Collishawe?"

"That's him," Chater assented. "He ought to be full-bottomed," said Fellowes. "Most of these blockaders are. We'd have the wind of him, if we run south."

"Well, now, why should we run for it?" drawled Chater.

"Why? Lord, man, Collishawe's pressed more Americans than any British officer on the station. 'Crimpin' Collishawe' he call him. If he has a full crew, himself, he'll press for any other blockader that's short-handed."

Chater laughed in a peculiar noiseless way that always repelled Fellowes.

"I ain't conspired for him. We've got to pass the blockade to make Sundry Hook. And ye forget we run on license."

"I know," answered Fellowes, still perturbed; "but license or no, why risk your men?"

"All my crew carry press-protections," rejoined Chater. "What's the use of trading on license, if ye can't make your home-ports, hey? We'll hold to the course. I wouldn't waver but maybe Collishawe'd be kind of grateful for Peninsula news. And he always shortened sail whenever he sighted Miss Clara. Used to come to old Ben's house a lot when he was in New York."

Dust Now Recognized as Powerful Explosive

It is more or less generally well known that all dust accumulations represent a menace of no mean proportions. Dust is explosive and many mills were wrecked by this mysterious power before the real cause was understood. In a mill, for instance, the explosion taking place in one chamber was carried to the next and so on until the explosive force swept through the entire mill and the workings were wrecked completely. It is only within a comparatively few years that it was ascertained that this march of destruction was conducted through the subterranean passages by the accumulation of dust on the walls and in the crevices. Now this is avoided by a coating which is sprayed on and which prevents the dust thus treated from exploding. In the case of grain mills the damage done by these mysterious bursts was particularly severe and the government agencies have been giving considerable attention to the study of these mysterious blasts. In the course of some experiments it was found possible to drive an automobile engine by the use of finely powdered corn dust. —Louisville Courier-Journal.

Miss Edna Pearson, Sioux City, Iowa

This New-Type Flour Banishes Baking Failures

WOMEN all over the country declare they have taken the "guess work" out of baking. Now they get perfect results every time with bread, cakes, pies and biscuits.

They use a new-type flour for all baking purposes—GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Flour—that simplifies baking remarkably and banishes the cause of most baking failures.

Failures, experts found, were mostly due to the fact that 2 sacks of the same flour often acted differently, even with the same recipe... it was not uniform in oven action.

So now all GOLD MEDAL Flour is "Kitchen-tested" before it comes to you. As each batch comes through the mill it is tested by actual baking—bread, cakes, biscuits, pastries—in an oven just like yours. Only flour which acts the same perfect way every time is allowed to go out to you. Thus you know in advance exactly what your results will be.

Radio Playlet, "Romance of the West"

The Lincoln County War, a bitter factional fight in New Mexico in the early seventies, is the background for the Conoco Adventurers' radio playlet of the western country.

Billy the Kid, one of the most famous outlaws of the Old West, who, when he was still a heedless youth of eighteen, carried several notches on his gun, is one of the principal characters in the radio playlet, "A Romance of the West." It tells the story of the three days of continuous battle which finally ended a bitter factional strife centering around the town of Lincoln. There is woven into the sketch an interesting love story, illuminated by the chronicle of the bravery of a settler's daughter, who is finally won by one of the participants in the "Lincoln County War."

Special musical effects have been devised to lend a convincing sound background to the action, and there is a touch of comedy, too, in the character of the pioneer wife who owned the only piano for miles around, and was ready to defend it with her life.

France in America

View of Point a Pitre, Island of Guadeloupe.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)
FRANCE'S far-flung colonial empire was advanced at the London conference for the limitation of naval armaments as a reason for a large French navy. The vast area that France once owned in the Western Hemisphere has shrunk while her possessions in Asia and Africa have greatly expanded. But even in the Americas the French flag still flies at a number of scattered points.

France's farthest north territory in America, the Miquelon Island group off the southern shore of Newfoundland, is little known. Even this tiny parish of granite-rimmed, fog-shrouded islets that recalls the rich empire of New France has had a stormy time of it remaining under the French flag. It had been captured from France by Great Britain before Wolfe's victory at Quebec marked the beginning of the end of French control in Canada; and when the defeated nation ceded its vast areas to Britain, the latter gave back the Miquelons as a sort of "consolation prize." The little islands were to serve as a base on this side of the Atlantic for the French fishermen who had built up an important industry on the Newfoundland banks, as had the British themselves. The unsettled status of the islands continued, however, and between 1763 and 1815 they changed hands half a dozen times, sometimes being depopulated. Since 1815 France has held undisputed control.

St. Pierre, the capital and chief port of the islands, became very prosperous as a result of the thriving French fisheries, and in 1834 it was the leading fishing port of the world. There were handsome homes in the little town and a social life that made St. Pierre a miniature Paris. But the Miquelons' prosperity and gaiety were cut short by a pro-fish factor—bait. Affairs of empire in 1901 moved statesmen in Paris to sell the French treaty rights to catch small fish on the Newfoundland coast for some millions of francs and territory in Africa. The Newfoundland fishermen had been jealous of their French rivals on the banks, especially since a generous government subsidy enabled the French to undersell all competitors in the principal world markets. Newfoundland soon passed the "Bait Act" which prohibited the sale of bait to ships of aliens, and from that time the prosperity of the islands has waned.

Miquelon Island Now of Small Value.
St. Pierre is now only a gray little village with a past but no apparent future. A quarter of the houses are vacant, and the quays, once thronged with vessels whose yard-arms interlocked, now have but a sprinkling of ships, even at the height of the fishing season. When bait was plentiful St. Pierre was a real base of operations. Now the dedicated French fishing fleet operates from France, putting in at St. Pierre only incidentally. Economically these last of France's North American possessions amount to little; but France values them for the same reason that Great Britain has valued Newfoundland: as a field for the training of seamen, and therefore as a strengthening of her navy.

The Miquelon archipelago consists of Grand Miquelon, some twelve miles long by six wide, Petite Miquelon or Longue, a trifle smaller, and St. Pierre, only seven miles by two. In addition there are a number of tiny rocky islets of little importance. St. Pierre, though the smallest of the three major islands, has always been the center of population because of its harbor. In the days of its prosperity the town had 6,000 residents and 10,000 additional Frenchmen sometimes thronged its streets during the fishing season. Now the village never sees more than 3,000 people at any time. Many of its discouraged residents have emigrated to the United States.

What was long the only French cable to the New World emerges from the Atlantic at St. Pierre and then continues from that station to the Massachusetts coast. But even as a news door to America the Miquelons no longer seem essential. Since 1893 a second French cable has stretched directly from France to the United States.

A political detail is eloquent of the changed status of the Miquelons. At St. Pierre is the "governor's residence." But no governor now graces it. In these, the days of their decadence, the affairs of the Miquelons are attended to by an "administrator."

France's next American possessions, islands at the eastern edge of the Caribbean sea, Guadeloupe is the largest of the Lesser Antilles. This island group has suffered many natural calamities.

France in the West Indies.

To the visitor going ashore, Point a Pitre, the commercial capital of Guadeloupe, does not look like a town prepared for the worst. But it always is. Point a Pitre is prepared, and Basse Terre, the capital, and all Guadeloupe is prepared for hurricanes, earthquakes and volcanic eruptions. Its preparedness is to be seen principally in the construction of its houses. When a news story says that suburbs of Point a Pitre have been laid flat, it gives more worry to the outside world, probably, than to the Guadeloupais. Frequent experience with hurricanes has taught them to build with light wood. Let the wind blow their houses down. This type of house can be built quickly and cheaply.

Guadeloupe, with its nearby islands, Marie Galante, named for a Spanish flagship; Deshaies, named because it was the desired island sighted by Columbus; and the Saltes, comprise an area half as large as our smallest state, Rhode Island. All year around the natives enjoy the perfection of a tropical sea climate; all the year except when a hurricane bursts out of the east.

Two shipping lines connect Guadeloupe to France. The island people are proud of France. They copy her sidewalk cafes and her food; they cling to a French patois; three thousand of them marched to Moscow with Napoleon; and many of them served under the Tricolor in the World war.

By travelers, however, Guadeloupe is remembered chiefly for her port-wine, her swizzles and for obehah. The swizzle is a drink made of ingredients produced by the islands—Guadeloupe rum added to crushed limes, lemon and a little sugar. The concoction is whipped into a froth and sipped at the end of each sentence during a leisurely conversation.

Obehah, on the other hand, is something that does not exist. Almost no one can be found who will admit he believes in it, yet many do. Obehah is a charm; it is black magic, allied to the practices of voodoo worship. In the past sudden and unaccountable deaths have been charged to the obehah "doctors" so the government and church authorities have tried strenuously to eliminate this pagan custom brought from Africa. Advice sometimes is given to strangers that in a crisis they can escape any difficulties with the natives by shouting an obehah curse which will make them scatter like chaff in a hurricane.

Fame of Martinique.

Further south, beyond the British island of Dominica, lies perhaps the most famous of French American possessions, Martinique, island birthplace of Empress Josephine. The island has an area of 355 square miles, much of it mountainous. The population is about 250,000 and is therefore very dense—much greater in the inhabited portions than the huddled average of 619 to the square mile.

Martinique suffered a great tragedy in 1902 when its famous volcano, Mt. Pelée, erupted and totally destroyed the nearby city of St. Pierre with a loss of 40,000 lives. There was even a suggestion that the whole of Martinique be abandoned; but only one-tenth of the area was devastated, and the island is now more prosperous than before, while the population has increased from 182,000 to 250,000. St. Pierre, which was the metropolis and most beautiful town on the island, has never been rebuilt. Fort de France, the capital, has grown rapidly since the catastrophe and is now a city of more than 40,000 inhabitants.

The southernmost of France's American territories is French Guiana on the mainland of South America. This, too, is the most extensive patch of French land in the Western Hemisphere, embracing 84,740 square miles. The area of the colony is thus slightly greater than that of Maine or South Carolina. In this extensive region there are less than 60,000 inhabitants (exclusive of native tribes) and about one-third of the 50,000 live in the chief town, Cayenne. French Guiana is, on the whole, hot and moist, and large areas are covered with dense forests. The colony is best known, perhaps, because of its off-shore penal colony, Devil's Island, to which France sends her most hardened and notorious criminals.

Symptom Hunting

IT IS indeed surprising how many people under a misguided idea of enjoyment develop and maintain a fear complex in relation to their well-being. For instance, a muscle pain on the left side of the chest convincingly suggests a fatal heart condition, a sure on any portion of the body is conclusive evidence of cancer, a pain in the neck is the first indication of chronic neuritis, a slight stitch in the lower right side is undeniable proof of appendicitis, a "backache" means kidney trouble and a cough of more than two days' standing is an established case of tuberculosis.

While it must be admitted that it is always sensible to have a proper regard for the unusual manifestation, even though it be but a slight one, it is quite another matter to be forever and anon interpreting this and that little pain as an immediate indication of the necessity of a surgeon's knife or as the first step in the journey to the grave.

The super-egoist, who thus is constantly and for the most being, pleasantly in a mental furor, fails to realize that this grand and glorious world has sufficient real trouble in it without adding imaginary ones.

Moreover, in addition to being a downright nuisance to himself and others, a person habitually thinking in terms of personal calamity is likely to suffer from an unhealthy mental backfire.

There are, and will continue to be, many millions of people in the United States who will never become the victims of any of the major ills to which humanity sometimes is heir—a fact which the alarmists do not appear to appreciate.

For all practical purposes, barring acute conditions, the annual physical examination can usually be relied upon to guard one against the insidious terrors of the major maladies.

Consequently, if you are a symptom hunter drop it from your sport list and go in for something worth while. Symptom hunting most decidedly is a poor game.

Walk, but Watch Out

THE other day a man was attempting to figure his bank balance while crossing the street. His faculty is now figuring how much they will owe the undertaker.

The point to this sad tale is this: that when one is crossing a street or highway the main business is to achieve the other side safely. Romancing, calculating or plain absent-mindedness has no business being mixed up with the procedure.

Thousands of men and women who should have known better get seriously injured, and some times fatally so, simply because they failed to realize that the automobile will always have the best of the argument in case of a collision with a pedestrian.

Lawyers, indeed, may plead for the victim of his heels. But even substantial damages are poor pay for a permanent injury or an untimely demise.

Whether one does or does not choose to leave this world by way of an automobile knockout, in nine cases out of ten can be decided by the individual himself. Certainly, health of heels cannot do much for him along this line.

True, there may be worse and more painful ways of bidding adieu to life, but that is a slight solace to him who really hasn't any actual desire to leave sooner than is absolutely required.

Respect the killing and maiming power of the motor car. Give up the right of way by not getting in the way. Walk, but watch out!

Insects Make Trouble for Railroad Officials

A report from Corvado, Italy, recently received stated that a train was held up for some hours by a swarm of snails which crawled on the rails and made them so slippery they could not grip. Two years ago a swarm of locusts disorganized the railway between Mlort and Fontenay-le-Comte by settling on the permanent way, and the same pests have more than once caused trouble on the South African railways, when a train has run into a swarm crossing the lines, and their crushed bodies have rendered the rails too slippery for the wheels to grip. Not many years ago, also, a swarm of bees held up the train at Burgess Hill station, on the Brighton (England) line, and a solitary cockroach, by climbing into the telegraphic instrument in a signal box, once held up an express between Toronto and Winnipeg for some considerable time.

Less Snow in Arctic

That in spite of the freezing temperature there is less snow in the Arctic regions than in this country has been revealed by official figures. The total annual precipitation is somewhat more than ten inches, whereas central parts of the United States have forty or more. The dry air, caused by the low temperature of the Arctic, can give rise to little rain or snow.

When Babies FRET

There are times when a baby is too fretful or feverish to be sung to sleep. There are some pains a mother cannot pat away. But there's no time when any baby can't have the quick comfort of Castoria! A few drops, and your little one is soon at ease—back to sleep almost before you can slip away.

Remember this harmless, pure vegetable preparation when children are ailing. Don't stop its use when Baby has been brought safely through the age of colic, diarrhea, and other infantile ills. Give good old Castoria until your children are in their teens! Whenever coated tongues tell of constipation; whenever there's any sign of sluggishness that needs no stronger medicines to relieve, Castoria is pleasant-tasting; children love to take it. Buy the genuine—with Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on wrapper.

Wants All the World to Know

"About ten years ago I got so weak and rundown that I felt miserable all over. One day my husband said, 'Why don't you take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' When I had taken two bottles I felt better so I kept on. My little daughter was born when I had been married twelve years. Even my doctor said, 'It's wonderful stuff.' You may publish this letter for I want all the world to know how this medicine has helped me."—Mrs. Horton Jones, 208 48th Street, Union City, N. J.

Tunnel's Fate With Quakes.
Whether the proposed railway tunnel beneath the strait of Gibraltar to connect Europe and Africa is feasible will depend on the results of artificial earthquake waves sent through the ground. The waves will be sent to reveal what rocks would be encountered.

Needless Pain!

Some folks take pain for granted. They let a cold "run its course."

They wait for their headaches to "wear off."

If suffering from neuralgia or from neuritis, they rely on feeling better in the morning.

Meantime, they suffer unnecessary pain. Unnecessary, because there is an antidote. Bayer Aspirin always offers immediate relief from various aches and pains we once had to endure. If pain persists, consult your doctor as to its cause.

Save yourself a lot of pain and discomfort through the many uses of Bayer Aspirin. Protect yourself by buying the genuine. Bayer is safe. Always the same. All drugstores.
